

Equal Opportunity laws in South Australia

There are laws to protect you against discrimination, sexual harassment and victimisation. This document will help you to understand your rights.

Discrimination means treating someone unfairly because of who they are, such as because of their age, race, sexuality or disability. Sometimes it is against the law.

Sexual harassment is behaviour of a sexual nature that you don't want.

Victimisation is when you are treated unfairly because you have complained about discrimination or harassment.

If you experience discrimination, sexual harassment or victimisation, you can make a complaint to us.

Contact Equal Opportunity SA

Ph: (08) 7322 7070

Email: Equal@sa.gov.au

Website: www.equalopportunity.sa.gov.au

If English is not your preferred language, please contact the Interpreting and Translating Centre on 1800 280 203 and ask to speak with Equal Opportunity SA.

